TCP's Task Force on Detainee Treatment Releases New Report on Detention and Treatment of Suspected Terrorists

WHAT: Press conference to release the Report of The Constitution Project's Task Force on Detainee Treatment.

The report of the blue ribbon Task Force on Detainee Treatment is the most comprehensive, bipartisan investigation into the detention and treatment of suspected terrorists yet published. The product of more than two years of research, analysis and deliberation by the Task Force members and staff, it provides the American people with a broad understanding of what is known -- and what may still be unknown -- about the past and current treatment of suspected terrorists detained by the U.S. government during the Clinton, Bush and Obama administrations, and across multiple geographic theatres, including Iraq, Afghanistan, Guantánamo and the so-called "black sites."

WHEN: 9:00 AM, April 16, 2013

WHO: Asa Hutchinson (Task Force Co-Chair) - former Undersecretary of the Department of Homeland Security, and former GOP Congressman

Ambassador James R. Jones (Task Force Co-Chair) - former Ambassador to Mexico, and former Democratic Congressman

About The Constitution Project

Created out of the belief that we must cast aside the labels that divide us in order to keep our democracy strong, The Constitution Project (TCP) brings together policy experts and legal practitioners from across the political spectrum to foster consensus-based solutions to the most difficult constitutional challenges of our time. TCP seeks to reform the nation's broken criminal justice system and to strengthen the rule of law through scholarship, advocacy, policy reform and public education initiatives. Established in 1997, TCP is based in Washington, D.C.
